Dear Mr Morgan,

I am writing to you in regard to my concerns regarding the climate change crisis and persuade you to take action to limit global warming. Our need for more solar water and energy is driving climate change; as a result of this over 200 species are dying. I am sure you can agree that this is devastating for our wildlife.

There are many things we can do to slow down climate change and prevent global warming. Their indicators are severe and extreme weather; we can use more renewable sources of energy and create less waste and pollution. I would be very pleased to hear the methods you would implement to reduce global warming.

I am very sure you are keen to push this global issue, with your public voice, into your constituents' minds. We need your help.

I eagerly await your response and urge you to do something soon, time is running out.

Yours sincerely
