Dear Mrs Morgan,

I am writing to inform you that you should take action. The global warming is affecting people, Hugsy and the animals. Science is telling us that global warming is occurring. While we fluctuate day to day, global warming refers to the overall trend of the climate and it is increasing and change to adapt and we can already see evidence of species of animals dying off the changes.

Global warming is affecting animals like Polar Bears, Birds and fish species. Polar bears are dying on ice sheets melting, birds are dying because of deforestation and forest fires, fish are dying because of plastic in the seas. We lose 200 species a day, we should work together and stop damaging our planet because this is the only planet we have. We are producing more CO<sub>2</sub> and fossil fuels.

Thank you for reading this and I will be eagerly waiting for a response.

Yours Sincerely,
